RASKOB CLAIMS AL SMITH HAS SUFFICIENT ELECTORAL VOTES NOW TO ASSURE HIS ELECTION

Believes They Will Poll Greatest Popular Vote In Nation's History.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 28.—Claiming sufficient electoral college votes to assure the election of Gov. Alfred E. Smith as president, John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National committee, conferred here today with party leaders from eight Mississippi valley states.

"I prophesy that Smith and Robinson will poll the greatest popular vote ever accorded a presidential candidate in the history of our country," he said. "Never has the outlook for the Democratic party been better."

Raskob characterized Smith as "this human engineer."

"The people of the nation," he said, "are developing a great sense of security in him and in his ability to get things done."

"The result is a ground swell sweeping across the whole country in the heart of the agricultural west, the Democratic chairman attributed 'great unrest and dissatisfaction throughout the farm belt' to 'the unkept promise made by the Republican party in 1920 and 1924.'"

"Gov. Smith has promised relief," he said.

"The people of New York state know this, and love and trust him."

He made no reference to prohibition.

Raskob claims 346 electoral votes, or 80 more than enough to elect Smith, and believes that out of the 185 remaining votes in the country, Smith "should corral 100 more."

Twenty seven states with 309 electoral votes which he asserted "any reasonably prudent business man" would include in the Smith column today are:

Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Nevada, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia, Wisconsin and Tennessee.

"There seems little doubt," he said, "that six more states with an electoral vote of 37, should be classified for Smith and Robinson. They are Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming."

"This leaves states with 185 votes," he said. "Everyone of which is fighting ground, and there is good indication that the Democratic ticket will corral over 100 of these."

The states called into conference today are Missouri, Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Iowa, Kentucky and Tennessee, of which Raskob includes all but Illinois, Kansas and Iowa in the Smith column.

Raskob, en route to Hot Springs, Ark., for notification ceremonies for Senator Robinson, the vice presidential nominee, was accompanied here by U. S. Senator Peter G. Gerry, R. L. chairman of the advisory committee; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in charge of women's activities; J. J. Shouse, Kansas member of the advisory committee; and Mrs. John A. Warner, daughter of Gov. Hard Luck Still Follows Goldsberry With Christy Shows

Bad luck seems to be shadowing the Christy Brothers Wild Animal Shows, with which Hugh Goldsberry, Circleville, is a tight rope performer. Several nights ago, when the show was playing at Red Bluff, California, one of the Pullman cars of the Co., caught fire presumably from a gasoline can explosion, and destroyed the contents valued at $5000, in addition to the loss of the car itself.

Mr. Goldsberry who is the son of Mrs. Sophia Goldsberry of Pinckney-st., recently took his wife to a hospital in California where an operation was performed on one of her knees, so that it would not be stiff, but there is very little hope that the bone will knit properly.

Hard Luck Still Follows Goldsberry With Christy Shows

Bad luck seems to be shadowing the Christy Brothers Wild Animal Shows, with which Hugh Goldsberry, Circleville, is a tight rope performer. Several months ago Hugh's wife, also a tight rope walker, fell from a great height when the wire braces pulled out from the soft ground. She broke both legs at the knees and will be a cripple for life.

Several nights ago, when the show was playing at Red Bluff, California, one of the Pullman cars of the Co., caught fire presumably from a gasoline can explosion, and destroyed the contents valued at $5000, in addition to the loss of the car itself.

Mr. Goldsberry who is the son of Mrs. Sophia Goldsberry of Pinckney-st., recently took his wife to a hospital in California where an operation was performed on one of her knees, so that it would not be stiff, but there is very little hope that the bone will knit properly.

Mr. Peters was born in Madison-twp., this county, in 1846, the son of William L. and Susanna Hoffines Peters.

The Peters' were pioneer residents of Pickaway-co. His grandfather, John Peters, was one of Madison-twp.'s first settlers.

One brother, Francis Jerome Peters, survives. He was elected president of the Ashville Banking company in 1906.

A detailed account of Mr. Peters' life follows:

The major portion of Mr. Peters' career was devoted to the practice of law. He had been a resident of the city for more than half a century.

He was born Oct. 11, 1846, on a farm in Pickaway-co., where he attended school. He later taught school several years. When he took up the legal profession he came to Columbus, in May, 1872, and entered the law office of Chauncey N. Olds as a law student. He was admitted to the bar in December, 1873, and soon began his practice of law in Columbus as a partner of Luke G. Byrne, under the firm name of Byrne & Peters.

This partnership was terminated in 1881, in which year Mr. Peters was elected mayor of Columbus.

After leaving the office of mayor, Mr. Peters practiced law by himself until 1887, when he was appointed U. S. attorney for the Territory of Utah by President Grover Cleveland. He held this position until 1889 and during his tenure of office he did much to bring about a better order of things in that country in the early days of lawlessness.

Returning to Columbus in 1889, Mr. Peters resumed the practice of law in partnership with William J. Clarke, under the firm name of Peters & Clarke.

In the early nineties he became a member of the firm of Booth, Keating & Peters and continued until he retired from active life, Jan. 1, 1917.

He is a former president of the Columbus Bar Association.

Former Gov. Hadley appointed Mr. Peters a member of the board of managers of Ohio penitentiary and as president of that board, he was active in putting into operation the parole law, which had just been passed when he assumed duties on the board.

He wrote the rules and regulations for granting paroles to prisoners, which was termed the first real step taken toward prison reform in America.

Nov. 27, 1877, Mr. Peters married Flora E. Rarey of Groveport. She died in 1918.

Three daughters, Miss Grace Rarey Peters, at home; Mrs. Ferdinand P. Schoedinger, 57 Parkwood-ave., and Mrs. William A. Duboc, 826 Franklin-ave., and three grandchildren, Annie Elizabeth and Ferdinand P. Schoedinger, Jr., and Suzanne Peters Duboc, survive.

Helen Wills Greatest Champ Of All Time

DEFEATS MISS HELEN JACOBS FOR U.S. TITLE

And Now Is Champion of This Country, France and Also England.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent.
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Helen Wills today stands out as perhaps the greatest woman tennis player of all time. By defeating Helen Jacobs, 20-year-old Santa Barbara, Calif., girl, in the national singles final yesterday, Miss Wills became the champion of the United States, France and England.

Not even Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the only player who might dispute Helen Wills' claim to the all time title, ever held the three outstanding women's tennis championships at one time. The impetuous French star never won the American title.

Miss Wills captured the three titles without the loss of a set, defeating the greatest women players here and abroad with consummate ease.

After blazing a bright path through the tournament, Helen Jacobs flared out in the final and was able to win only three games, as she went down to an overwhelming defeat, 6-2, 6-1. Until she met Miss Wills, the Santa Barbara girl had lost only 12 games in four matches.

Paired with Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, Boston veteran, Miss Wills also won the doubles championship. They defeated Edith Cross, San Francisco, and Mrs. L. A. Harper, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2.

The tennis world, speculating today over when and how Miss Wills will meet with defeat, reflected over Mlle. Lenglen's opinion. The French girl defeated Miss Wills in their only match on the Riviera several years ago with severely angled cross court shots and intermingled soft shots just over the net followed by deep shots to the baseline.

It is Mlle. Lenglen's contention that Miss Wills does not cover her court well, running forward and then back. This was clearly demonstrated in the third and fourth games of the first set, which Miss Jacobs won by mixing chop strokes just over the net with her terrific drives. The tactics won both games for Miss Jacobs, but, for some unaccountable reason, she attempted to outdrive Miss Wills in the remaining games and was hopelessly beaten.

The match lasted only 33 minutes and Miss Wills was never called upon to exert herself. She had a much harder match with Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin, Springfield, Mass., in the fourth round.

Playing in her first final, Miss Jacobs was nervous, badly off her game and unable to control her drives. She made 51 errors in the fifteen games against 19 for Miss Wills. Most of Miss Jacobs' errors were drives beyond the back line. She overdrove the back line 37 times against 14 out for Miss Wills.

FRANK GETTY

The annual fall hysteria, with its flying tackles, fumbled punts, triple passes and sweep runs, is only a month away.

The nation's football army will mobilize next month and a thousand and one coaches will begin a frantic search for another "Red" Grange, another Benny Oosterbaan, and another Ernie Nevers.

From logging camps, ice wagons, steel mills and gymnasiums will come thousands and thousands of young athletes bent on making a place on the varsity eleven.

No drastic changes were made in the football rules during the winter, and the game this season will be almost identical with the game as played in 1927.

Three Minor Changes
The three minor changes, briefly, follow:

1. The backward or lateral pass must be thrown a distance of two yards before striking the ground and is dead at point of recovery.
2. Either a muff or fumble of a punt may be recovered but not advanced beyond point of recovery.
3. No player on the side making a forward pass and who has crossed the line may interfere with an opponent until the ball has been touched.

A large number of schools will begin football practice the first week in September. Yale, Harvard and Princeton, the last of the eastern teams to begin training, open their camps Sept. 17.

A few minor games are scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 22, but the official opening will not take place until Saturday, Sept. 29, when practically all of the leading teams get into action. Yale, Harvard and Princeton do not open their season until Oct. 6. Yale plays Maine. Harvard plays Springfield and Princeton plays Vermont.

Notre Dame and the Army have two of the toughest schedules ever attempted by any football teams. Notre Dame plays Carnegie Tech, Georgia Tech, Minnesota, Southern California, Army, Navy and Penn State. The Army plays Southern Methodist, Harvard, Yale, Carleton, Notre Dame, Nebraska and Stanford.

Princeton a Favorite
A few of the outstanding teams in each section for the coming season follow:

EAST—Princeton, Dartmouth, Pittsburgh, Army.
BIG TEN—Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa.

BIG SIX—Missouri, Nebraska, South—Georgia, Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Alabama.

SOUTHWEST—Southern Methodist, Texas, Texas Aggies.
FAR WEST—Stanford, Southern California, Idaho.

PACIFIC COAST CONFERENCE—Denver, Colorado Aggies.

Dame.

Princeton, with its veteran material, will be one of the hardest teams in the country to beat this season. The Tigers' backfield of Ed Wittmer, Mike Miles, Jack Norman and Bill Scarlett is one of the most promising quarters for the season.

Wisconsin has high hopes of winning the Big Ten title with a veteran team, coached by Glenn Thistlethwaite. Pop Warner says his squad at Stanford this season is the greatest he has ever coached.

Georgie's backfield of Johnson, Hooks, Dudley and McCrary may turn out to be one of the nation's best. Nebraska will have a veteran team, including Blue Howell, the great fullback.

Southern Methodist, with the brilliant Redman Hume, will come east for the first time to play Army.

With the Stars

Babe Ruth (337) singled three times in six times at bat sending one man home.

Lou Gehrig (374) doubled, scoring a run and singled once out of seven trips.

Paul Waner (371) walked his first three times at bat, singled and then hit a sacrifice fly to gain two runs for the Pirates.

Frankie Frisch (300), singled once out of five times at bat.

Goose Goslin singled once in four trips against Cleveland.

Freddy Lindstrom (355), Rogers Hornsby (376) and Al Simmons (379) did not play yesterday.

Baseball

Yesterday's hero—Bob Meusel, New York Yankee outfielder, who cracked out four hits in six times at bat, including two doubles, drove in four runs and generally aided the American league leaders win a double victory over Detroit, 4-3 and 5-2. The Yankees were out-hit, 7-6, in the first game but Tom Zachary making his debut in a Yankee uniform, kept the Tiger crew at bay while his new mates came from behind to win. Pipgras let the Tigers down with eight scattered hits in the second game and the Yanks were never in serious difficulty.

St. Louis clambered all over the Boston Red Sox for two victories, 8-6 and 4-0. Harris held the Browns hitless for five innings in the first game, but they fell on him for five runs in the sixth. Ogden and Schulte shared honors in the second game. Ogden allowed the Red Sox only four hits and Schulte hit a home run and two doubles in three official times at bat.

Washington defeated Cleveland, 5 to 3, in the only other American league game of the day. Both teams hit the ball hard but rather ineffectively until the eighth when with the score tied at 3-3, Washington drove in two runs to win.

The St. Louis Cardinals increased their lead to four games in the National league by dropping Chicago, 11-3. The Cubs made 12 hits but could not bunt them. St. Louis made most of its 13 hits count. Eight Cubs died on the baselines. Flint Rhem was credited with the victory and Sheriff Blake the defeat.

Pittsburgh climbed a game closer to first division beating Cincinnati, 9 to 4. Luque was wild and allowed Paul Waner three straight passes before he was finally removed from the game.

Waner scored two runs and in his only official trip to the plate, scored two of his mates with a long single. The Reds out-hit the Pirates, 14 to 10, but Fussell refused to let the Reds any chance to bunt their blows.

MYSTERY CONTINUED TO SHROUD

SEATTLE, WASH., Aug. 28.—Mystery today still surrounded the fate of the Giant Ford monoplane which was lost on a flight from Vancouver, B. C., to Seattle. Search continued today.

No wreckage of the craft has been found in the Straits of Juan De Fuca where it was believed to have fallen. Aviators and seamen feared the plane had dived into the sea with its six passengers aboard. It might have struck the water in fog, they said. Spots of oil had been seen on the water at one point along the monoplane's route.

Helen Wills Greatest Champ Of All Time

DEFEATS MISS HELEN JACOBS FOR U. S. TITLE

And Now Is Champion of This Country, France and Also England.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent.
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Helen Wills today stands out as perhaps the greatest woman tennis player of all time. By defeating Helen Jacobs, 20-year-old Santa Barbara, Calif., girl, in the national singles final yesterday, Miss Wills became the champion of the United States, France and England.

Not even Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the only player who might dispute Helen Wills' claim to the all time title, ever held the three outstanding women's tennis championships at one time. The impetuous French star never won the American title.

Miss Wills captured the three titles without the loss of a set, defeating the greatest women players here and abroad with consummate ease.

After blazing a bright path through the tournament, Helen Jacobs fared out in the final and was able to win only three games, as she went down to an overwhelming defeat, 6-2, 6-1. Until she met Miss Wills, the Santa Barbara girl had lost only 12 games in four matches.

Paired with Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, Boston veteran, Miss Wills also won the doubles championship. They defeated Edith Cross, San Francisco, and Mrs. L. A. Harper, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2.

The tennis world, speculating today over when and how Miss Wills will meet with defeat, reflected over Mlle. Lenglen's opinion. The French girl defeated Miss Wills in their only match on the Riviera several years ago with severely angled cross court shots and intermingled soft shots just over the net followed by deep shots to the baseline.

It is Mlle. Lenglen's contention that Miss Wills does not cover her court well, running forward and then back. This was clearly demonstrated in the third and fourth games of the first set, which Miss Jacobs won by mixing chop strokes just over the net with her terrific drives. The tactics won both games for Miss Jacobs, but, for some unaccountable reason, she attempted to outdrive Miss Wills in the remaining games and was hopelessly beaten.

The match lasted only 33 minutes and Miss Wills was never called upon to exert herself. She had a much harder match with Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin, Springfield, Mass., in the fourth round.

Playing in her first final, Miss Jacobs was nervous, badly off her game and unable to control her drives. She made 51 errors in the fifteen games against 19 for Miss Wills. Most of Miss Jacobs' errors were drives beyond the back line. She over drove the back line 37 times against 14 out for Miss Wills.

BY FRANK GETTY

The annual fall hysteria, with its flying tackles, fumbled punts, triple passes and sweep runs, is only a month away.

The nation's football army will mobilize next month and a thousand and one coaches will begin a frantic search for another "Red" Grange, another Benny Oosterbaan, and another Ernie Nevers.

From logging camps, ice wagons, steel mills and gymnasiums will come thousands and thousands of young athletes bent on making a place on the varsity eleven.

No drastic changes were made in the football rules during the winter, and the game this season will be almost identical with the game as played in 1927.

Three Minor Changes

The three minor changes, briefly, follow:

1. The backward or lateral pass must be thrown a distance of two yards before striking the ground and is dead at point of recovery.
2. Either a muff or fumble of a punt may be recovered but not advanced beyond point of recovery.
3. No player on the side making a forward pass and who has crossed the line may interfere with an opponent until the ball has been touched.

A large number of schools will begin football practice the first week in September. Yale, Harvard and Princeton, the last of the eastern teams to begin training, open their camps Sept. 17.

A few minor games are scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 22, but the official opening will not take place until Saturday, Sept. 29, when practically all of the leading teams get into action. Yale, Harvard and Princeton do not open their season until Oct. 6. Yale plays Maine, Harvard plays Springfield and Princeton plays Vermont.

Notre Dame and the Army have two of the toughest schedules ever attempted by any football teams. Notre Dame plays Carnegie Tech, Georgia Tech, Minnesota, Southern California, Army, Navy and Penn State. The Army plays Southern Methodist, Harvard, Yale, Carleton, Notre Dame, Nebraska and Stanford.

Princeton a Favorite
A few of the outstanding teams in each section for the coming season follow:

EAST—Princeton, Dartmouth, Pittsburgh, Army.
BIG TEN—Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa.

BIG SIX—Missouri, Nebraska, South—Georgia, Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Alabama.

SOUTHWEST—Southern Methodist, Texas, Texas Aggies. FAR WEST—Stanford, Southern California, Idaho.
MOUNTAIN CONFERENCE—Denver, Colorado Aggies.

Princeton, with its veteran material, will be one of the hardest teams in the country to beat this season. The Tigers' backfield of Ed Wittmer, Mike Miles, Jack Norman and Bill Scarlett is one of the most promising quarters for the season.

Wisconsin has high hopes of winning the Big Ten title with a veteran team, coached by Glenn Thistlethwaite. Pop Warner says his squad at Stanford this season is the greatest he has ever coached. George's backfield of Johnson, Hooks, Dudley and McCrary may turn out to be one of the nation's best. Nebraska will have a veteran team, including Blue Howell, the great fullback Southern Methodist, with the brilliant Redman Hume, will come east for the first time to play Army.

With the Stars

Babe Ruth (337) singled three times in six times at bat sending one man home.

Lou Gehrig (374) doubled, scoring a run and singled once out of seven trips.

Paul Waner (371) walked his first three times at bat, singled and then hit a sacrifice fly to gain two runs for the Pirates.

Frankie Frisch (300), singled once out of five times at bat.

Goose Goslin singled once in four trips against Cleveland.

Freddy Lindstrom (355), Rogers Hornsby (376) and Al Simmons (379) did not play yesterday.

TRAP SHOOT IS SET FOR MONDAY

A trap shoot will be held Labor Day on the grounds north of Circleville, according to tentative plans announced Monday. The shoot will start at 12:30 p. m. Followers of the clay pigeons are expected from many communities near the city.

Prizes will be given in the form of sugar.

BOXING

ELIZABETH, N. J.—Roberto Roberti, Italian heavyweight, scored a technical knockout over Joe Savage, Philadelphia, after one minute and 50 seconds of the second round. The referee stopped the bout when Savage was hanging onto the ropes.

Baseball

Yesterday's hero—Bob Meusel, New York Yankee outfielder, who cracked out four hits in six times at bat, including two doubles, drove in four runs and generally aided the American league leaders win a double victory over Detroit, 4-3 and 5-2. The Yankees were outthit, 7-6, in the first game but Tom Zachary making his debut in a Yankee uniform, kept the Tiger crew at bay while his new mates came from behind to win. Pipgras let the Tigers down with eight scattered hits in the second game and the Yanks were never in serious difficulty.

St. Louis clambered all over the Boston Red Sox for two victories, 8-6 and 4-0. Harris held the Browns hitless for five innings in the first game, but they fell on him for five runs in the sixth. Ogden and Schulte shared honors in the second game. Ogden allowed the Red Sox only four hits and Schulte hit a home run and two doubles in three official times at bat.

Washington defeated Cleveland, 5 to 3, in the only other American league game of the day. Both teams hit the ball hard but rather ineffectively until the eighth when with the score tied at 3-3, Washington drove in two runs to win.

The St. Louis Cardinals increased their lead to four games in the National league by dropping Chicago, 11-3. The Cubs made 12 hits but could not bunch them. St. Louis made most of its 13 hits count. Eight Cubs died on the baselines. Flint Rhem was credited with the victory and Sheriff Elake the defeat.

Pittsburgh climbed a game closer to first division beating Cincinnati, 9 to 4. Luque was wild and allowed Paul Waner three straight passes before he was finally removed from the game. Waner scored two runs and in his only official trip to the plate, scored two of his mates with a long single. The Reds outthit the Pirates, 14 to 10, but Fussell refused the Reds any chance to bunch their blows.

MYSTERY CONTINUES TO SHROUD

SEATTLE, WASH., Aug. 28.—Mystery today still surrounds the fate of the Giant Ford monoplane which was lost on a flight from Vancouver, B. C., to Seattle. Search continued today.

No wreckage of the craft has been found in the Straits of Juan De Fuca where it was believed to have fallen. Aviators and seamen feared the plane had dived into the sea with its six passengers aboard. It might have struck the water in fog, they said. Spots of oil had been seen on the water at one point along the monoplane's route.

DOVER, O., Aug. 28.—Although the 4th of July only comes once a year this city will have its fall fireworks.

Blackbirds are creating a city-wide nuisance by roosting in trees and a few property owners were granted permission to fire into the trees. This permission was later stopped.

FATHER MEMBER OF MORGAN RAID GANG, HE WRITES

Charles F. Hill Corrects Impression On Raid and Also On Tarlton.

A story recently printed in The Herald concerning "Morgan's Raid" brought forth an interesting letter from Mr. Charles F. Hill.

The story carried by The Herald stated that the men from Pickaway-co. went to Chillicothe. Mr. Hill in his letter advanced the opinion the men from western Pickaway-co. went to Camp Chase, Columbus.

His father was one of them and was a drummer in the so-called "Sheep-skin Band."

Approximately 10,000 men collected in defense of the capital city but no arms were forthcoming and difficulty was experienced in feeding his gang, Mr. Hill stated.

Had General Morgan entered Columbus with his 4,500 cavalry he possibly could have captured them and the city also.

The band of men was sent home by Governor Tod.

The statement recently circulated that Tarlton was claiming to be the second settlement in Ohio was also staunchly denied by the reader.

Tarlton was settled about 1801. Ohio applied for admission as a state in 1802 and was admitted in February, 1803.

The first Ohio settlement was at Marietta April 7, 1788. The second at Cincinnati. Possibly several settlements were made prior to this time but few were permanent. The settlers were either massacred by the Indians or abandoned the settlement.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

I got Konjola and to my surprise the pains started to leave before the first bottle was half gone. By the time I finished this bottle there wasn't the slightest pain anywhere and I could use my arms and legs as freely as ever. I strongly urge every sufferer to give this new medicine a trial.

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Mykrantz Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

2,000 ATTEND OPENING HERE OF SALES ROOM

George Adkins Agency Was Thronged With Visitors To See New Cars.

The opening of the Geo. Hoadley Adkins agency of the Super Six Hudson and Essex Saturday afternoon and evening, was phenomenal from the point of attendance. Nearly 2,000 people called and gave the new Hudson and Essex cars the once over, and extended good wishes to Mr. Adkins and his corps of courteous salesmen.

The spacious salesroom had a capacity crowd, and show cars had to be moved into the work and repair rooms to accommodate the callers. Women who were in the majority, bustled and rubbed shoulders with each other to see the beautiful cars on display.

The show room was decorated with flowers of the season. Baskets of beautiful flowers were presented to Mr. Adkins by Fred C. Clark, The Pickaway Finance Company of this city, the Clarksburg Finance Company and Walter B. Zimmerman and Brother, of Columbus.

Glenn Lewis of Columbus, representing the Zimmerman Company, was present and received the callers. One of the cars on exhibit was an Essex coach owned by Cy Hill of Columbus, that had been driven 100,000 miles in ten months. The Teddy Taylor orchestra from the Ohio State University furnished the music; over 600 gladioli from the Dr. Bales Triangle farm, and 500 cigars were given away before 9 p. m. The rush of callers literally swamped the place, and there was not enough flowers or cigars to go around.

Time stands still when you pave with brick

TIME and all the ills that assail the surface of a highway are at a standstill when you pave with Brick.

Roads surfaced with Vitrified Brick are good for more years of service—UNREPAIRED—than you can eke out of any other material by constant patching and repair.

Illustrative of our point is the stretch of road pictured below.

A little of its history is interesting.

Napoleon Bonaparte built it as a way of egress from France for his marching armies.

Being an engineering as well as a military genius, assisted his military art largely by the roads he planned and built.

Good roads meant rapid mobility and mobility spelled victory to Napoleon, so he paved to withstand the pound, pound, pound of a passing army and he paved with BRICK.

A Brick surfaced road is hard but elastic. With proper foundation you have a road that outlasts the bonds—that will be good for a generation of wear.

Then when it finally frays a little you can turn it over and use it again.

PAVE WITH VITRIFIED BRICK. When the detour sign comes down this time it will be down for many years to come.

Informative Booklets gladly sent upon request.

Old Brick Pavements in the U. S. A.

Can you name a single pavement in your own locality other than Brick that, costs compared, has given even 20 years of satisfactory service?

Note the years of continuous service on the pavements listed below and that tho built for another era of traffic they are still giving faithful service.

FATHER MEMBER OF MORGAN RAID GANG, HE WRITES

Charles F. Hill Corrects Impression On Raid and Also On Tarlton.

A story recently printed in The Herald concerning "Morgan's Raid" brought forth an interesting letter from Mr. Charles F. Hill.

The story carried by The Herald stated that the men from Pickaway-co. went to Chillicothe. Mr. Hill in his letter advanced the opinion the men from western Pickaway-co. went to Camp Chase, Columbus.

His father was one of them and was a drummer in the so-called "Sheep-skin Band."

Approximately 10,000 men collected in defense of the capital city but no arms were forthcoming and difficulty was experienced in feeding his gang, Mr. Hill stated.

Had General Morgan entered Columbus with his 4,500 cavalry he possibly could have captured them and the city also.

The band of men was sent home by Governor Tod.

The statement recently circulated that Tarlton was claiming to be the second settlement in Ohio was also staunchly denied by the reader.

Tarlton was settled about 1801. Ohio applied for admission as a state in 1802 and was admitted in February, 1803.

The first Ohio settlement was at Marietta April 7, 1788. The second at Cincinnati. Possibly several settlements were made prior to this time but few were permanent. The settlers were either massacred by the Indians or abandoned the settlement.

2,000 ATTEND OPENING HERE OF SALES ROOM

George Adkins Agency Was Thronged With Visitors To See New Cars.

The opening of the Geo. Hoadley Adkins agency of the Super Six Hudson and Essex Saturday afternoon and evening, was phenomenal from the point of attendance. Nearly 2,000 people called and gave the new Hudson and Essex cars the once over, and extended good wishes to Mr. Adkins and his corps of courteous salesmen.

The spacious sales room had a capacity crowd, and show cars had to be moved into the work and repair rooms to accommodate the callers. Women who were in the majority, bustled and rubbed shoulders with each other to see the beautiful cars on display.

The show room was decorated with flowers of the season. Baskets of beautiful flowers were presented to Mr. Adkins by Fred C. Clark, The Pickaway Finance Company of this city, the Clarksburg Finance Company and Walter B. Zimmerman and Brother, of Columbus.

Glenn Lewis of Columbus, representing the Zimmerman Company, was present and received the callers. One of the cars on exhibit was an Essex coach owned by Cy Hill of Columbus, that had been driven 100,000 miles in ten months. The Teddy Taylor orchestra from the Ohio State University furnished the music; over 600 gladioli from the Dr. Bales Triangle farm, and 500 cigars were given away before 9 p. m. The rush of callers literally swamped the place, and there was not enough flowers or cigars to go around.

ONE BOTTLE OF KONJOLA ENDED HIS RHEUMATISM

"I Could Never Get It All Out Of My System," He States

MR. E. S. BROOMHALL

"I tried every known liniment and all sorts of hot compresses for my rheumatism, but I could never get it all out of my system, until I started with Konjola, states Mr. R. S. Broomhall, 2228 Salem Road, North Linden, Columbus, Ohio.

About 15 years ago I contracted rheumatism in my hands, arms and legs and I have been in almost constant misery with these aches and pains ever since. During severe attacks I would be crippled up with swollen feet and hands and stiffened arms and legs that I had to get off from work as long as six months at a time.

I got Konjola and to my surprise the pains started to leave before the first bottle was half gone. By the time I finished this bottle there wasn't the slightest pain anywhere and I could use my arms and legs as freely as ever. I strongly urge every sufferer to give this new medicine a trial."

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Mykrantz Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

COUNTY FAIRS

There's the glare of good old gingham
At the old-time county fair,
There's a circus man a-singin'
At a bell or two that's ringin',
And some canes you win for slingin'
At the old-time county fair.
Sister's there, an' dad an' brother,
At the old-time county fair—
An' your new hat's made to cover
Hair that's slicked and combed by mother,
An' you're glad to see each other
At the old-time county fair.
Hogs and horses, cows and cattle
At the old-time county fair—
New shoes squeak and buttons rattle,
Men folks argue, women prattle,
Dog or two starts in to battle
At the old-time county fair.

THE ROAD'S "SHOULDER"

The safety and comfort of the motoring public is promoted by attention to the edge or "shoulder" of a concrete or macadamized road.
If there is a sharp hiatus between the cement or macadamized surface, and the dirt or gravel at the side of the road there is a tendency to drive the lines of traffic on the hard part of the road too closely together. This makes it more difficult for cars to pass those ahead, and careless drivers are more apt to get into trouble, as the result of bumping over the rough edges or rough dirt on the roadside.

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.
A LEDA RAY, pretty country girl, working in New York as a stenographer, is in love with Gary Chester, young engineer. She is living with Marise de Rense, whose young sister, Goldie, is secretly engaged in a blackmailing scheme with Clive Mortimer, ne'er-do-well Englishman. Goldie and Mortimer receive a "commission" to arrange a party for Smithson, wealthy rounder. Goldie, jealous of Aleda, tricks her into attending the party and then notifies Chester that he can find Aleda there. Gary, disillusioned, arrives and takes Aleda home. Marise learns that Goldie is infatuated with Gary Chester and accuses Aleda of "stealing" him from her sister.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.
CHAPTER XL.
A LEDA slept fitfully. In the small, hot bedroom in Marise's house on West Fortieth street—dreaming that Marise was still scolding her and blaming her for stealing Goldie's beau, and Gary Chester—Aleda moaned and stirred.
That hateful party in the roof apartment!
In her dreams the scenes were re-enacted, magnified, italicized! She woke and found to her astonishment that she was weeping!
Had it been real, or had she dreamed that Gary had said, in parting:
"This is good-bye. I don't ever wish to see you again."
She brushed her hand across her eyes, sat up in bed. It wasn't six yet—she could see the little traveling clock upon her dressing table—yet some daylight had already percolated into the room.
Upon a chair—a reminder of the detestable party of but a few hours ago—lay the wine-stained frock!
What had he thought, this Gary Chester, on whose good opinion she had set such store?
Then she remembered she had given an explanation to him on the journey back.
Had he believed her? He had been silent, "distrustful" and cool.
Despite her feeling for him, and the ache in her heart, she had grown angry, then, and told him that he was hard and unjust! She realized he thought she had been drinking.
She had exclaimed indignantly: "Because I was dragged against my will into the wrong crowd, and wine was spilled on my frock—although I hadn't touched a drop of it—and a lot of silly old men went on like idiots, I'm to be treated like an—like an outcast or a leper—by someone I'd begun to look on as a friend—a dear friend! It serves me right! This is the first and last party, believe me, which I'll ever go out on!"
He had helped her from the car, at that, and taken her to Marise's door.
In a low, hurt voice—quite tense—he'd made a suggestion (overheard no doubt by Goldie's sister, and that had added to the general trouble): "If you will dine with me tomorrow evening, we could talk the matter over."
She had not given a "yes" or "no." She had gone quickly up the steps.
He'd gone.
Then came Marise's accusations! Unjust and ridiculous, they had been!
She'd leave this house forever! She would be extraordinarily cool to Gary Chester. Goldie could have him. He must have flirted in some way with Goldie. She hated a lady-killer man, a he-male vamp!
As Aleda started to get out of bed and put her resolution to leave into action—(she would do her packing now, before anyone was about)—and leave a note for Marise with the entire week's board-money, though it was only Wednesday. . . . and go right out of the house, and the expressman would call later and fetch her trunk. . . . this would be the easiest and the most dignified exit!—she heard a tiny sound, a rustle, at the half-open door of her room.
Nerves still keyed up, she gave a quick, staccato: "Who's there?"
Around the edge of the door appeared Marise's head.
"Aleda. . . I haven't slept a wink all night."
"What is it?" Aleda pulled the coverlets back over her and stared at the white-faced, red-eyed vision that was Marise. "I thought you'd already said everything that was to be said."
"I'm—terribly sorry, Aleda! I'd give my right hand—cut out my tongue—if you'd only see your way to—overlook things? I was so frightened and worried about Goldie—and you coming home without her was the last straw!"
Marise was in the room now, her hand nervously playing with the door-knob. She looked ill and wretched, pallid and pathetic. Her face, like the kimono that she wore, seemed faded and old.
A twinge of compunction for this woman touched Aleda. Angry as she had been with her last night—or early this morning, during their distressing interview, she now felt a quail of pity for Marise.
She forced herself, however, to hide that. She said: "I'm packing immediately. You won't have much difficulty in renting this room."
Two tears coursed slowly down Marise's face.
"I don't blame you for going, and I can't keep you against your wish, but—oh, Aleda—if you only knew how much I've liked you—what a pleasure—and a comfort it's been to have you here!" She gulped. "Goldie didn't get in till half past three or four, and when I saw her—?—Marise, she'd been wearily on the end of Aleda's bed—"if only you'd forgive me, and stay on, and—be friendly with Goldie—or at least with me, because I think the world of you—it would be such a relief to my mind."
In the half light of the room, Aleda could see that Marise's eyes were like those of a tired but faithful dog who pleads for a little kindness and a little mercy.
She couldn't hold out against her at this moment. She said, in an uncertain, rather shaky voice: "Oh, in the meantime. . . for a little while. . . I'll stay."
That morning, dressing at his club, Gary Chester found on the floor beside the chair on which his coat had rested overnight, a small bright object.
It must have fallen from his pocket? He had no idea what it could be. . .
He picked it up, examined it. The little shiny lid sprang open, revealing rouge and powder, covered by tiny circles of tissue paper. Secured on the inside of the lid by an elastic band was a folded, brand-new $50 bill!
How on earth had this thing come into his possession?
Ah! he remembered now—the red-haired girl at the roof-apartment party had slipped something into his pocket as he was waiting for Aleda, whispering: "She's a bit fuddled now—you understand—a man gave her this—tonight—you keep it for her till she knows what she's about!"

CIRCLEVILLE'S THEATRE TO BE OPENED OCT. 1ST

Three Automatic Stage Curtains To Be Used For Vaudeville Acts.

Circleville's new theater, which will open Oct. 1, will be of Spanish design throughout and embody a Spanish color scheme. According to plans one huge dome will be placed in the center of the ceiling with five side lights on each side, all the fixtures being of a Spanish type.
The heating, lighting and ventilating systems are being constructed at the present time. A cooling system, one of the features of theaters in cities many times the size of Circleville, is being installed. This theater is certainly a great boost for Circleville and the communities within a twenty-mile radius as it will be the most modern in every respect.
Work was started July 20th and if plans materialize it will be open to the public on the scheduled date.
Three automatic stage curtains will be used for vaudeville features.

GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 — Wheat took a downward turn on the board of trade today as the result of weaker Liverpool quotations. Corn and oats were about steady with yesterday's close.
Wheat opened 38 to 1-2 cent lower, corn was unchanged to 1-4 cent higher and oats was unchanged to 1-8 cent off. Provisions were irregular.
The action of wheat during the past few days has convinced many traders that bearish news has been discounted by low prices. Nevertheless, there has been no news to stimulate speculative buying. Traders now are waiting to see how the market will withstand hedging pressure from the northwest when the spring wheat movement begins in volume. Liverpool did not show the strength expected today.

Shorts in September corn have been exceedingly nervous lately, rushing to cover on every show of strength. Yesterday they bid the delivery up 2 3-8 cents. Weather over the belt is cloudy and warm.

Authorities agree that oats prices are unusually low but the good demand which aided a price gain last week has fallen off somewhat. Commission houses have been moderate buyers.

There will be a city teachers' examination held in the high school building on Friday, Aug. 31, 1928, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. All credentials must be evaluated by the State Department of Education.

SHAVING BRUSHES SOURCE OF DANGER

Skin and Blood Diseases Often Traced to Use of These Common Toilet Implements Which Carry Germs.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

THERE are many ways to die, and man is not given his choice among them. He must accept his fate no matter what form it takes. Because there is no dodging that fate, however, it does not follow that "what is to be will be." Such fatalistic philosophies have brought many to an untimely and unnecessary end.

The span of life is gradually being widened and premature mortality lessened. The scientists are showing us more and more how to live: how to prevent infection; how to escape disease. One important factor that is adding to the sum total of America's unprecedented prosperity today, is the greatly lessened loss of productive time of the worker through illness, which his better knowledge of bodily hygiene has taught him.

But we still have much to learn. We still do many hazardous things because we are ignorant of the fact that they are hazardous. Because the day-by-day news reveals little of the many lives that pay for that ignorance, we unconsciously indulge in these practices, little dreaming how they are fraught with danger to our precious bodies and lives.
Take the matter of the common lather brush for example. For years scientists have warned against its use. Its thickly tufted knot offers an ideal breeding ground for germs. The barber shop is not the only place where this germ carrier exposes you to danger. Your own brush, by reason of its exposure to dust and dirt, is a potential disease carrier. Germs such as diphtheria, scarlet fever, and other serious skin and blood diseases are traced directly to germs that propagate in shaving brushes.
The deadliest of diseases communicable by the shaving brush is syphilis. Too often it is a fatal disease, yet always preventable.
Fastidious as we are in this modern day, don't it rather remarkable that we submit to the common shaving brush and mug? While it may well be that comparatively few cases of disease are transmitted in this manner it cannot be denied that it is an art which gives abundant opportunity for trouble.
Even though brush and mug are actually boiled for each customer—something that is rarely done, even in the best of shops—that is not enough to overcome the objection to their use. Nobody would accept a common toothbrush, no matter if it had been boiled for an hour. Why then should we submit to the common shaving brush?

Not because of the remote danger of a virus, but because of the prospect of catching barber's itch or some other skin or blood disease, not alone because of the possibility of physical contamination, do I plead for a change in the manner of shaving. It is because there is a more sanitary, a more cleanly, a more decent process of lathering.

THE 100 PER CENTER ABROAD

Scattered all over Europe there is a considerable number of American men and women holding responsible positions, representing American concerns, who look with dread upon the approach of the 100 per cent American tourist.

The tourist American drops in on the working American. He doesn't bother to knock because he is the fourth cousin of a fellow who was in the working American's freshman class in college. He expects free eats, free drinks and is disappointed if the working American doesn't close up his desk, neglect his job and become a free guide, philosopher and friend.

Then the stock remark for the touring 100 per center to make is: "Guess it seems good to you to see a real American."

The fact is that Americans working abroad are real Americans, even more real perhaps than the 100 per center who comes to preach the hokum of American greatness and "the way it's done in America." To those who have lived abroad, and who know even better than the tourist how the old countries compare with the New World, this is not only tiresome, but exasperating. The American working in England knows that the British city governments are singularly free from graft; that the police are, on the whole, the most honest body of men in the world; that London is kept cleaner than almost any town in America. They know America's advantages, too. They know the general level of prosperity goes deeper in America and that the standard of living for all classes is higher.

The 100 per center's hokum doesn't sell well on the other side. His creed is based upon ignorance. That seems to apply here which the poet wrote of English patriotism:

"He knows not England who only England knows."

AIRPORT INVESTMENTS

As the argosies of the air increase in number and scope, more and more is being spent for adequate landing fields for the new traffic. In the recent Missouri primary election St. Louis voted a $2,000,000 bond issue for improvements at its flying field and Kansas City voted a million for the same purpose.

These two Missouri cities and Chicago are competing for a place of pre-eminence in the middle west. The idea is extending to the smaller towns where thousands of dollars are being spent for lights and emergency landing fields. Detroit and Cleveland have been racing neck and neck to have "the finest airports in America." As the value of air transport begins to be made clearer, the spending of money for adequate facilities is contagious.

HANDLING THE BAGGAGE

The older folks will remember what mountains of trunks the women folks used to take with them to the summer resorts. It was one evidence of the thoughtlessness of those days, that people would carry around such tremendously heavy luggage for porters, cab drivers, and hotel servants to handle.

Many of these hard workers must have done themselves considerable injury in handling these heavy pieces of baggage. But in those days when women wore long heavy and encumbering garments, an outfit of summer clothes called for a big trunk well weighted down, and the porters groaned.

Today women's clothes are shortened at both ends, reduced in number and volume. The women will frequently travel with suitcases. Many an army has been beaten because its baggage did not arrive, and many a vacation was spoiled in the former days for the people of Ohio because the heavy trunks failed to get there on time.

THE ROAD'S "SHOULDER"

The safety and comfort of the motoring public is promoted by attention to the edge or "shoulder" of a concrete or macadamized road.

If there is a sharp hiatus between the cement or macadamized surface, and the dirt or gravel at the side of the road there is a tendency to drive the lines of traffic on the hard part of the road too closely together. This makes it more difficult for cars to pass those ahead, and careless drivers are more apt to get into trouble, as the result of bumping over the rough edges or rough dirt on the roadside.

It helps comfort and safety, if the dirt or gravel along the roadside is leveled up evenly with the hardened part, so that if a driver is compelled to run one wheel off the hardened part of the road, he can still run fairly smoothly on the outside surface.

CIRCLEVILLE'S THEATRE TO BE OPENED OCT. 1ST

Three Automatic Stage Curtains To Be Used For Vaudeville Acts.

Circleville's new theater, which will open Oct. 1, will be of Spanish design throughout and embody a Spanish color scheme. According to plans one huge dome will be placed in the center of the ceiling with five side lights on each side, all the fixtures being of a Spanish type.

The heating, lighting and ventilating systems are being constructed at the present time. A cooling system, one of the features of theaters in cities many times the size of Circleville, is being installed. This theater is certainly a great boost for Circleville and the communities within a twenty-mile radius as it will be the most modern in every respect. Work was started July 20th and if plans materialize it will be open to the public on the scheduled date.

Three automatic stage curtains will be used for vaudeville features.

GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 — Wheat took a downward turn on the board of trade today as the result of weaker Liverpool quotations. Corn and oats were about steady with yesterday's close.

Wheat opened 38 to 1-2 cent lower, corn was unchanged to 1-4 cent higher and oats was unchanged to 1-8 cent off. Provisions were irregular.

The action of wheat during the past few days has convinced many traders that bearish news has been discounted by low prices. Nevertheless, there has been no news to stimulate speculative buying. Traders now are waiting to see how the market will withstand hedging pressure from the northwest when the spring wheat movement begins in volume. Liverpool did not show the strength expected today.

Shorts in September corn have been exceedingly nervous lately, rushing to cover on every show of strength. Yesterday they bid the delivery up 2 3-8 cents. Weather over the belt is cloudy and warm.

Authorities agree that oats prices are unusually low but the good demand which aided a price gain last week has fallen off somewhat. Commission houses have been moderate buyers.

There will be a city teachers' examination held in the high school building on Friday, Aug. 31, 1928, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. All credentials must be evaluated by the State Department of Education.

SHAVING BRUSHES SOURCE OF DANGER

Skin and Blood Diseases Often Traced to Use of These Common Toilet Implements Which Carry Germs.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

THERE are many ways to die, and man is not given his choice among them. He must accept his fate no matter what form it takes. Because there is no dodging that fate, however, it does not follow that "what is to be will be." Such fatalistic philosophies have brought many to an untimely and unnecessary end.

The span of life is gradually being widened and premature mortality lessened. The scientists are showing us more and more how to live: how to prevent infection; how to escape disease. One important factor that is adding to the sum total of America's unprecedented prosperity today, is the greatly lessened loss of productive time of the worker through illness, which his better knowledge of bodily hygiene has taught him.

But we still have much to learn. We still do many hazardous things because we are ignorant of the fact that they are hazardous. Because the day-by-day news reveals little of the many lives that pay for that ignorance, we unconsciously indulge in these practices, little dreaming now they are fraught with danger to our precious bodies and lives.

Take the matter of the common lather brush for example. For years scientists have warned against its use. Its thickly tufted knot offers an ideal breeding ground for germs. The barber shop is not the only place where this germ carrier exposes you to danger. Your own brush, and dirt, is a potential disease carrier. Barber's itch and other serious skin and blood diseases are traced directly to germs that propagate in shaving brushes.

The deadliest of diseases communicable by the shaving brush is diphtheria. Too often it is a fatal disease, yet always preventable.

Pastidious as we are in this modern day, isn't it remarkable that we submit to the common shaving brush and mug? While it may seem that comparatively few cases of disease are transmitted in this manner it cannot be denied that it is an act which gives abundant opportunity for trouble.

Even though brush and mug are actually boiled for each customer—a thing that is rarely done, even in the best of shops—that is not enough to overcome the objection to their use. Nobody would accept a common toothbrush, no matter if it had been boiled for an hour. Why then, should we submit to the common shaving brush?

Not because of the remote danger of diphtheria or because of the prospect of catching barber's

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl, working in New York as a stenographer, is in love with Gary Chester, young engineer. She is living with Marise de Rense, whose young sister, Goldie, is secretly engaged in a blackmailing scheme with Clive Mortimer, ne'er-do-well Englishman. Goldie and Mortimer receive a "com-mission" to arrange a party for Smithson, wealthy rounder. Goldie, jealous of Alela, tricks her into attending the party and then notifies Chester that he can find Alela there. Gary, disillusioned, arrives and takes Alela home. Marise learns that Goldie is infatuated with Gary Chester and accuses Alela of "stealing" him from her sister.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XL.

ALEDA slept fitfully. In the small, hot bedroom in Marise's house on West Fortieth street—dreaming that Marise was still scolding her and blaming her for stealing Goldie's beau, Gary Chester—Alela moaned and stirred.

That hateful party in the roof apartment! In her dreams the scenes were re-enacted, magnified, italicized! She woke and found to her astonishment that she was weeping!

Had it been real, or had she dreamed that Gary had said, in parting?

"This is good-bye. I don't ever wish to see you again." She brushed her hand across her eyes, sat up in bed. It wasn't six yet—she could see the little traveling clock upon her dressing table—yet some daylight had already percolated into the room.

Upon a chair—a reminder of the detestable party of but a few hours ago!—lay the wine-stained frock!

What had he thought, this Gary Chester, on whose good opinion she had set such store?

Then she remembered she had given an explanation to him on the journey back . . .

Had he believed her? He had been silent, "distracted" and cool.

Despite her feeling for him, and the ache in her heart, she had grown angry, then, and told him that he was hard and unjust! She realized he thought she had been drinking . . . like the other girls!

She had exclaimed indignantly, "Because I was dragged against my will into the wrong crowd, and wine was spilled on my frock—although I hadn't touched a drop of it!—and a lot of silly old men went on like idiots, I'm to be treated like an—like an outcast or a leper—by someone I'd begun to look on as a friend—a dear friend! It serves me right! This is the first and last party, believe me, which I'll ever go out on!"

OHIOANS SWARM TO STATE FAIR ON SECOND DAY

Over 51,000 Present on Opening Day; Sousa Band Is Big Attraction.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—Thousands of Ohioans swarmed to the State Fair grounds today—exhibitors' day.

From hill and dale, from city and town, they came, despite the fact that the skies were threatening early this morning. But before the gates at the fair—which ranks with the nation's greatest—were opened, visitors were streaming into Columbus.

Monday was Columbus day, and 51,000 persons, mostly residents of the State's capital, were in attendance. The attendance figure, officials said, was 7,000 more than was recorded on the opening day a year ago.

John Philip Sousa, noted bandmaster, the vaudeville pageant and the night horse show vied for honors among the feature attractions during the day.

Today's program was a repetition of yesterday's. Concerts by Sousa's band, by the 300-piece boys' band, by the Sidney band, by Carbone's band and by the Dover Concert band were billed for throughout the day and evening.

Stock judging started at 9 o'clock this morning in the coliseum and was to continue for several hours, interspersed with band concerts.

The old fiddlers and dancers were to provide entertainment this afternoon.

A concert by Sousa's band was to precede the afternoon's program of horse racing. A night horse show, "Hawaiian Nights," and fireworks were scheduled for this evening.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

BY EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma

WILLIAM SOUTHERN, JR., EDITOR OF THE INDEPENDENCE (MO.) EXAMINER, SAYS:

THAT the man who has no pride in his home town is of very little if any use to the community.

The man or woman who accepts everything an organized community can give and makes no return, accepts no community obligations and refuses civic duty is living on charity.

Service is the rent we pay for the privilege of being a citizen and receiving the benefits of citizenship.

A community is judged by its newspapers. If I want to know something about a city, something about the people, about the business, about the pride and citizenship, the first evidence I demand is to see the kind of a newspaper that city supports. I can tell you all about what kind of people live there and if they have and manifest any civic pride. Whenever I find a free publication masquerading as a newspaper and receiving support, I dodge that town as I would a plague.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK THAT THE CITY WHICH IS PROUD OF ITSELF, PROUD OF ITS STREETS, PROUD OF ITS SCHOOLS, PROUD OF ITS CITIZENSHIP ALWAYS HAS A NEWSPAPER WHICH REFLECTS THAT PRIDE, SUPPORTS THAT CITY AND FIGHTS FOR THE HOME TOWN?

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

BY
EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma

WILLIAM SOUTHERN, JR., EDITOR OF THE INDEPENDENCE (MO.) EXAMINER, SAYS:

THAT the man who has no pride in his home town is of very little if any use to the community.

The man or woman who accepts everything an organized community can give and makes no return, accepts no community obligations and refuses civic duty is living on charity.

Service is the rent we pay for the privilege of being a citizen and receiving the benefits of citizenship.

A community is judged by its newspapers. If I want to know something about a city, something about the people, about the business, about the pride and citizenship, the first evidence I demand is to see the kind of a newspaper that city supports. I can tell you all about what kind of people live there and if they have and manifest any civic pride. Whenever I find a free publication masquerading as a newspaper and receiving support, I dodge that town as I would a plague.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK THAT THE CITY WHICH IS PROUD OF ITSELF, PROUD OF ITS STREETS, PROUD OF ITS SCHOOLS, PROUD OF ITS CITIZENSHIP ALWAYS HAS A NEWSPAPER WHICH REFLECTS THAT PRIDE, SUPPORTS THAT CITY AND FIGHTS FOR THE HOME TOWN?
